(54) Title: BANDAGE FOR TREATMENT OF PRESSURE SORES, BEDSORES AND SIMILAR AILMENTS

(57) Abstract: The product is a bandage for the treatment of pressure sores, bedsores and similar mainly human ailments. The bandage consists of an extensible, flexible textile material which serves primarily for the fixing of a pressure-relieving padding or pad which is placed over the affected area of the body. The padding or pad consists of soft, elastomeric material, especially polymer gel, which is moulded into a pad adapted to the area of the body in question. The bandage's physical form is generally determined by the part of the body which is to be treated. In principle, all areas of the body can be treated. The product's novelty consists in the textile material being moulded into the elastomeric material, such that the textile material enters as an integral fibre reinforcing in the pad. The moulded elastomeric material mainly constitutes limited areas of the bandage, so that the finished bandage has pads only opposite those parts of the body which are to be treated (relieved of pressure), while the other part of the bandage serves to fix the padding against the body.

* Special categories of cited documents:

"A" document defining the general state of the art which is not considered to be of particular relevance

"E" earlier application or patent but published on or after the international filing date

"L" document which may throw doubts on priority claim(s) or which is cited to establish the publication date of another citation or other special reason (as specified)

"O" document referring to an oral disclosure, use, exhibition or other means

"P" document published prior to the international filing date but later than the priority date claimed

"T" later document published after the international filing date or priority date and not in conflict with the application but cited to understand the principle or theory underlying the invention

"X" document of particular relevance: the claimed invention cannot be considered novel or cannot be considered to involve an inventive step when the document is taken alone

"Y" document of particular relevance: the claimed invention cannot be considered to involve an inventive step when the document is combined with one or more other such documents, such combination being obvious to a person skilled in the art

"&" document member of the same patent family
